TURNING GRAY
AND THREATENED
WITH BALDNESS
The Danger is Averted by Using
AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

ONE HEART.

I sometimes linger o'er the list
Of friends I lost in other days,
And still the question with me stays—
"When I am gone, shall I be missed?"

I doubt if others think the same,
Or even wish to share my thought—
That men were foolish who have sought
To leave a never dying name.

When thou hast run thine earthly race,
Thou wilt not "leave a world in tears,"
Nor will men come in after years
To view thine earthly resting place.

Thy poor remains will rest as well;
Thy spirit will be no less free.
Although it is not thine to be
A Milton or a Raphael,

Fret not thyself, but heaven thank
If all the good that thou canst do
May be so done that only few
Need ever know thy place is blank.

Be thankful if but one true heart
Shall feel for thee the moment's pain—
Ere it can say, "We meet again"—
Of knowing what it is to part.

One loving heart thou mayest crave,
Lest all thou caredst for on earth
Should seem to have no lasting worth
And end forever in the grave—

One faithful heart beneath the sky,
In which to leave a seed of love,
To blossom in a world above
And bear a fruit which shall not die.

WORE THE DIAMOND IN HIS LEG.

A Story of the Way the Orloff Stone Was Taken From Persia to Russia.

Gus Fox, a dealer in diamonds on Fourth street, has a story about the famous Orloff diamond, named after Count Orloff, the first European who bought it. Fox says: "It was originally the eye of an idol in Trichinopoli. It was stolen, according to the accepted account by a Frenchman, who escaped with it to Persia, where he sold it for the equivalent in our money of $8,000 to a Jewish merchant.

"The Jewish merchant sold it to an Armenian named Shafras, who had traveled in Russia and conceived the idea of taking the diamond to that country and selling it to the Empress Catherine for a great sum. Shafras paid him $60,000 for it.

"Having secured the stone, the next question with Shafras was how to get it to Russia, or rather how to conceal it when he was searched by robbers, as he was sure to be on the road. The journey was a long and perilous one, and thieves abounded everywhere. Shafras thought of swallowing the stone when he should be taken by the robbers, but was obliged to give that plan up, as the diamond was too large to swallow.

"He began to feel he had a white elephant on his hands when a thought occurred to him. He procured a sharp lance, made a cut in the fleshy part of his left leg and thrust the diamond into the wound. He sewed up the cut with a needle and a silver wire. It healed, leaving the diamond imbedded fast in the leg, quite out of sight.

"Then he started for Russia. On the way he was seized by robbers again and again and was thoroughly searched. Being an Armenian and suspected of going to Russia to trade, the thieves marveled greatly at finding nothing of value upon his person.

"He arrived in Russia at last, and, after extracting his diamond, visited the empress. He was willing to sell it for about $150,000, but the empress had not so large an amount in cash for the purchase, and Shafras preferred to go on to Amsterdam, the seat of the diamond cutting industry, where he had the stone polished.

"Here Count Orloff, an extremely wealthy Russian, saw the diamond and was filled with a determination to secure it for the Russian crown. He did secure it, but Shafras exacted from the Russian government $400,000, an annuity of $20,000 and a title of nobility. He died a millionaire.

"The Orloff diamond weighs 195 carats and is about the size of a pigeon's egg. It is smaller than the Kohinoor, in the possession of the English queen, which is supposed to be worth $3,750,000."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Last of the Falstaffs.

A correspondent writes: "Apropos of the latest Falstaff, I well remember a memorable performance of 'Henry IV' on Dec. 18, 1852, at the Princess' theater, when George Bartley—called then the last of the Falstaffs—made his farewell bow to the public after 50 years' service. 'On this very night of the week, the very date of the month 50 years ago,' he said, he had made his first appearance on the boards. I remember, too, his saying he had played Orlando to Mrs. Jordan's Rosalind. As a boy I was much struck by the transformation from the burly knight to the aristocratic looking old gentleman in evening dress as he tearfully bade his audience farewell. Charles Kean was the Hotspur, Ryder the King, Lacy the Prince, while Harley, Meadows, J. Vining, H. Saker, Miss Murray and Mrs. Daly were in the cast. Poor Bartley died within six years afterward and was laid in St. Mary's churchyard, Oxford, when I was an undergraduate in that university."—Westminster Gazette.

She Believed It.

Somebody asked President Robert Ellis Thompson of the Central High school if judgment is sacrificed in the cultivation of memory, and he, in unhesitatingly affirming such to be the case, related a story or two at the expense of his own memory. Said he: "I came very near speaking of Jonah as 'What you may call him' in the pulpit once, and at another time in the course of a conversation I said to a woman:

"'Do you believe that Jonah swallowed the whale?'

"'I do,' she said unhesitatingly.—Philadelphia Call.

OILING THE SEA.

The Wonderful Effect on Enormous Waves. A Curious Sight.

One of the most curious sights at sea is that of an oil bound ship.

Every up to date ship carries oil tanks, the quantity varying with the size of the vessel. For instance, a steamer of 150 tons burden carries on an average 60 gallons of oil. This oil is the refuse discarded by the oil refining factories and often consists of a mixture of whale oil, petroleum and vegetable oil. It costs about twopence a gallon, and a large sized vessel can be well supplied for 20 shillings.

The oil is stowed in spacious zinc tanks, arranged in the hold of the ship to act as ballast. Each tank contains 50 gallons of oil, and an ingenious mechanical tap arrangement connects the tank with the outside of the vessel.

If a dangerous gale arises and the ship becomes unmanageable and likely to founder, the sluices are opened, and 20 gallons or more of the oil is allowed to escape into the sea.

The effect is instantaneous. However stormy the sea may be, the vessel lies in a gently heaving millpond. There is no further danger of foundering, and the oil moves along with the vessel for some time, often half an hour, after which it breaks up and disperses. The ship must slacken speed a little, and more oil is let out from the tanks. Enormous waves may bear down on the ship, but on approaching the magic oiled circle they seem to melt away and pass harmlessly beneath the vessel.

Sailing vessels are not so often furnished with oil tanks as steamers. It is estimated, however, that over 200 vessels have been saved from shipwreck by means of the oil tanks since they were introduced a few years ago. It is only in cases of absolute peril that the tanks are resorted to.—London Answers.

A CITY PASTEL.

Once upon a time a wealthy proofreader who possessed an entire box of matches was accosted by an indigent editor who wanted fire for his pipe and possessed nothing but a copy of the "Light of Asia." The proofreader thus importuned declared he could give his comrade no assistance, as his matches were hard come by and he had nothing but a good, fat salary between himself and a heartless world. The editor declared he was in the same fix, and the proofreader relented and gave him one measly fugitive match with a head on it that was so small it was only a pimple.

"This match," said the editor as he struck it, "which you have so generously donated to the relief of suffering humanity has effected a marvelous revolution in society for so small a thing. I recollect my grandfather telling me of the trouble they used to have in obtaining lights in the old days—how he would sit up in bed while grandma would paddle around in her pretty bare feet hunting the flint on cold winter mornings, and how when she had found it while she was knocking a spark out of the old flint and steel he was sure of another half hour's nap. Wow! That infernal thing burned my fingers. Gimme another match!"

"Not to any extent," replied the opulent proofreader. "If you had spent the time you wasted on that chestnut in lighting your pipe, you would have been out of the woods. You can either hunt a flint and steel or procure a light from one of Mr. Edison's candles."—Chicago Dispatch.

For Black Eyes.

It is often the case that people meet with accidents and bruises that cause disfiguring discolorations, from which they suffer not a little embarrassment and annoyance. It is worth while to know that there is a simple remedy, and one quite within the reach of every one. Immediately after the accident mix an equal quantity of capsicum annum with mucilage made of gum arabic. To this add a few drops of glycerin. The bruised surface should be carefully cleansed and dried, then painted all over with the capsicum preparation. Use a camel's hair brush and allow it to dry, then put on the second or third coat as soon as the first is entirely absorbed. A medical journal is authority for the statement that if this course is pursued immediately after the injury discoloration of the bruised tissue will be wholly prevented. It is also said that this remedy is unequaled as a cure for rheumatism or stiffness of the neck.—New York Ledger.

A Village Rising Bell.

For more than 20 years Bowmansville, Pa., has had what is known as a village bell. It is swung between two high upright poles and was paid for by public subscription. Every day the bell is rung three times—at 5:30 o'clock a. m., 11 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The leading object of its ringing is to announce to farmers and other working people the time of day. The first bell in the morning at Bowmansville is the signal for the people to arise, and in summer most of the residents are out that early. The 11 o'clock bell announces that it is the time to leave the fields and prepare for dinner. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon they prepare for supper. — Cor. Philadelphia Record.

A Most Unreasonable Man.

The women in a North Atchison family think the head of the family is a regular old crank. He becomes furious when a crowd of women congregate on his porch and keep up a racket until late, and when young men call on his daughters and make no noise at all he does not like it either.—Atchison Globe.

A Dog's Attachment to a Cow.

A remarkable instance of affection between a dog and a cow is related by a suburbanite. His little black Scotch terrier became infatuated with a small Jersey cow in his neighborhood, and every morning he would run off to the pasture where his bovine sweetheart was kept. He would slip out the side way and walk along with the cow. He often missed his breakfast and often did not taste a mouthful all day. When she munched grass by the roadside, he patiently sat on his haunches until she moved along. Sometimes he was confined at home to break up the habit, but as soon as he was released off he would go at a full run for the pasture, singling out his love from the herd of cattle and following close at her heels. He would jump up, lick her feet and show signs of greatest joy when he came to her. While the cow on her part did not appear to appreciate his attentions she did not hook him away. Finally the family grew tired of keeping a dog that remained away during the day and only came home for his supper and to spend the night and gave him to persons living some distance in the country. The cow, who had never seemed to notice any of his demonstrations of affection, missed his companionship when he was gone. She would come to his former home at evening, put her head over the palings and low. She did this at intervals for several months.—Sioux City (Ia.) Tribune.

Good Advice to "Old Subscriber."

Once again I am compelled to impress upon my correspondents the necessity of brevity in their communications. For the benefit of those who may have a difficulty in condensing their observations I would suggest among other things the omission of preliminary flourishes.

It is gratifying to me to hear from every correspondent that he (or she) has been a diligent reader of Truth since its first number, that he regards it as the most valuable and influential of papers, that he has implicit confidence in my intelligence, judgment, sense of justice and desire to do the right thing, and that he comes to me with every expectation, etc., but with incessant repetition even this sort of flattery is apt to lose its flavor.

I reckon that if all the compliments were taken out of my letter box my daily reading would be shortened by at least two hours, which is the same thing as if one whole day per fortnight were added to my life. How many days, then, must be wasted in writing these compliments? For all our sakes, I beseech my correspondents to come to the point at once, and when they have stated it to sign their names and make way for somebody else.—London Truth.

Double Quick.

An ancient resident of Willowby, whose conduct in one of the battles of the civil war had brought him under suspicion of cowardice, was naturally indisposed to admit that he had played any but a manly part.

"I didn't run away and stay till 'twas all over; no such thing," he always affirmed. "I retreated in good order; that was all. 'Twas a time for retreating, if ever there was one, and accordingly I used my judgment and retreated."

This statement was regarded as more or less satisfactory up to the day when a military gentleman came to visit a cousin in Willowby, and in the course of a conversation held at the village store one evening heard the oft repeated explanation.

"Well, my friend," he said, looking steadily at the hero of the retreat, "you say you retreated in good order, but I should like to ask one thing. About how fast did you go?"

"Well," said the other man, surprised into telling the unadorned truth, "if I'd been at home and going after the doctor I reckon folks would have thought somebody was pretty sick."—Youth's Companion.

German Thinkers.

Other European nations will find it hard to bring their schools of philosophy to the level reached by the German thinkers. The contemplative turn of the Teutonic mind, the quiet habits of the national life, the very climate, all tend to develop that leisurely mode of thought which is part of the north German character and one of the greatest enjoyments known to its possessors. The French mind, quick as it is, and fascinating and prompt at grasping an idea, is too volatile, generally speaking, to the profoundly philosophic. But the German, who carries his native simplicity and good nature everywhere, even into the most elevated questions, allows himself to feel and think and grow poetic over everything.—Ernest Renan's Letters.

Big Parade In New York.

At Lincoln's funeral, April 25, 1865, there were about 15,000 soldiers in line; at Grant's funeral, Aug. 8, 1885, there were 13,500 in line, with 25,000 in the veteran and civic divisions. At the centennial parade, April 30, 1889, there were 50,000 soldiers in line, and at the Columbian parade on April 28, 1893, there were 12,000 men in line. At the Evacuation day parade, Nov. 25, 1883, and the Bartholdi statue parade there were fewer men in line.—New York Sun.

LAST Summer and Fall several of our county roads in this valley were graveled. The winter rains came and with the traffic converted the loose sand and stones into most excellent roadbeds. As long as the roads retained the moisture all was well, but during this summer there has been no rain and so as a consequence our roads are being rapidly ruined. They are rutty, stones are getting loose and cumber the wheelway, dust is every where. Now, bad roads not only make all kinds of traveling tiresome and unpleasant, but they wear out wagons, harness, horses and time. It has been demonstrated time and again, that the best roads are the cheapest roads and that they are a great deal cheaper than bad ones. but suppose that with good roads the saving on harness, wagons, etc., would just balance the extra expense of building and care, then it seems that they are justified in that the worry and discomfort of bad and dusty roads are removed. Water is essential to the life of any kind of earth or graveled road.

DURRANT has not been hung, and many people are looking for the cause of delay. It lies in the mechanism of justice. Our laws should be amended in such wise that when a jury finds a man guilty there can be no appeal. Under the present system errors in the admission of evidence, etc., which do not affect the verdict in the least, constitute ground sufficient for a new trial, and thus the community is taxed and retaxed. It may be urged that a jury is liable to make mistakes, so it is, but we are not convinced that Supreme Courts are beyond the pale of error. And so if the jury knows that the verdict is to be final of course there will be more care taken and less likelihood of mistake. If the Assemblymen of Sonoma county can introduce a bill which will relieve us from this farce the people of the State will rejoice.

THE election in Maine last Monday was a paralyzer to Bryan and and his free silver advocates. The Republicans carried the State by 50,000 plurality, as against 38,000 two years ago. As Maine is the home of the Democratic nominee for Vice President the Republicans say that the result portends an easy victory for McKinley next November.

The Tax Rate.

The Supervisors will meet next Monday, says the Santa Rosa Republican, to fix the tax rate. It is pretty well understood that the rate will be $1.28 on the hundred dollars. This will make the county rate .85 1-10. This rate allows a road tax of 25 cents, or three cents more than it was last year. Chairman Hall is not in favor of the 25 cent road tax.

THE NATIVE SONS AND DAUGHTERS.

BY ALFRED J. PUCKETT.

Upward, onward, grandly rising,
With a stride that is surprising
Yearly grows the countless train
Of the Native Sons and Daughters;
Born and reared beside the waters
Of the wave-washed western main.

Everywhere, o'er vales and mountains,
From the sunshine, from the fountains,
Springs the vigor of their years;
In their many objects blended,
They can boast they are descended
From the sturdy pioneers.

Some are youthful, some are hoary,
And their progress means true glory
Unto this enlightened age.
In their homes of comfort dwelling,
While the world is proudly telling
Of their peerless heritage.

Many trades and arts they master,
There's no land improving faster
Than the land in which they toil.
Many fabrics they are rearing,
Many hearth fires they are cheering,
Sons and daughters of the soil.

Noblest sentiments they cherish,
Loves and truths that never perish,
That all changes have withstood;
Bright their freedom's star is glowing,
Earth has not a brighter showing
Of true man or womanhood.

Forms of strength, of grace, of beauty,
May it be their pride, their duty
To partake of noble deeds.
Fettered not by superstition,
Earnest for their glorious mission
Irrespective of their creeds.

With the liberty they treasure,
With their sunshine, life and pleasure
They do scorn to envy kings.
Wealth is on their smiling faces,
And the blood of noblest races
Mingles through their vital springs.

On their paths of life united,
Truly have their vows been plighted
For the glory of our State.
Husbands, sisters, wives and brothers,
Like their fathers, like their mothers,
Hardy, worthy, wise and great.

Sturdy oaks and lovely flowers,
They will rival proudest powers,
As advancing unoppressed.
Filling noble occupations,
They will be the pride of nations,
Sons and Daughters of the West.

Nervous

People often wonder why their nerves are so weak; why they get tired so easily; why they start at every slight but sudden sound; why they do not sleep naturally; why they have frequent headaches, indigestion and

Palpitation of the Heart.

The explanation is simple. It is found in that impure blood which is continually feeding the nerves upon refuse instead of the elements of strength and vigor. In such condition opiate and nerve compounds simply deaden and do not cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla feeds the nerves pure, rich, red blood; gives natural sleep, perfect digestion, self-control, vigorous health, and is the true remedy for all nervous troubles.

Your Worst Enemy Writhing

With rheumatism is an individual whom, if you have a Christian spirit you would forgive. He is, no matter what his delinquencies, punished enough. Nothing short of Tophet could enhance his misery. Moreover, he is in serious peril. The disease is always prone to attack his heart and kill him instanter. As a means of curing this disease, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has the highest reputation and the most authoritative professional sanction. Its use in the preliminary stage of the complaint is the wisest precautionary measure rheumatic invalids can possibly adopt. The Bitters is also a remedy of the greatest utility in malarial and kidney trouble, dyspepsia and liver complaint, constipation and nervousness. It counteracts the effects of hardships and exposures in damp or inclement weather, and is a capital promoter of appetite and sleep. Give this fine remedy the persistent trial to which all medicines of standard reputation are entitled.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

SONOMA'S TAX LEVY.

The City Trustees Fix the Rate at 35 Cents.

At a special meeting of the City Trustees, held last Monday evening, for the purpose of fixing the tax levy for municipal purposes for the fiscal year of 1396-7, a full Board was present.

After the meeting had been called to order by President Seipp, the following resolution was introduced by Trustee Hartin:

Be it resolved, that the rate of taxation in the City of Sonoma for the year 1896-7 is hereby fixed at and declared to be 35 cents upon the one hundred dollars of taxable property for the general fund only as equalized by the City Board of Equalization. The City Clerk is hereby directed to apportion said tax upon the Assessment Roll and deliver to the City Collector a tax list in the usual form not less than ten days prior to the second Monday in October, 1896, and take his receipt therefor.

Upon motion of Trustee Bulotti seconded by Trustee Modini, the resolution was carried by the following vote:

Aye—Trustees Bulotti, Modini, Hartin and Seipp. Nay—Trustee Poppe.

The meeting then adjourned.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY FRANCHISE

The Supervisors Postpone Action Until September 22nd.

A number of prominent gentlemen appeared before the Board of Supervisors Friday, says the Santa Rosa Democrat, in relation to the procuring of an electric franchise over the roads of Sonoma county.

This matter has been up before the Board a number of times and has been hanging fire for the last two or three months, and it looks as if the Board hardly knew whether they wanted to grant it or not.

Some three or four months ago N. W Griswold presented a petition asking for a franchise to build an electric road from Santa Rosa to Embarcadero, a few miles below Sonoma. The matter came up before the Board at their next meeting and it had about been agreed between the different members to grant it when Griswold presented an amended petition asking for an extension of the franchise to cover all the principal roadways in Sonoma county. This put another aspect to the whole question and without any well defined idea why the franchise should not be granted they have hesitated in doing so, and so far have refused to take action in the matter.

Friday N. W. Griswold, accompanied by H. L. Tripp, F. L. Hodge, B. M. Spencer, W. D. Reynolds and Attorney Frank Russel appeared before the Board and the whole matter was again discussed and it was decided that the matter should go over until September 22nd, when the Board will in all probability dispose of it in some manner. In the meantime, if any citizens have any valid reasons why the franchise should or should not be granted they will be entertained by the Board.

Mother and Child.

Judge Dougherty on Saturday last discharged the writ of habeas corpus granted in the Larsen case. The proceedings were brought by Mrs. Pauline Larsen against her husband Charles Larsen to secure the custody of a twenty-two-months-old boy. The Larsens lived at El Verano up to a few weeks ago when Mrs. Larsen went to San Francisco, taking the youngest baby with her but leaving the youngster in dispute with his father. She now wants both children. In dismissing the writ Judge Dougherty rewarded the boy to the custody of the father as there was nothing to prove that he was illegally detaining the child as was alleged in the writ.

Rain.

On Monday morning last this valley was visited with a shower of rain, which laid the dust and purified the atmosphere, which had been quite sultry for several days preceding the precipitation.

HEALDSBURG CONVENTION.

THE DEMOCRATS AND POPULISTS FUSE.

Cutler Endorsed for Congress—The Nominees for Superior Judges, Assemblymen and Supervisors.

The Democratic and Populist Conventions met in Healdsburg last Monday and nominated the following ticket:

Superior Judges—J. C. Sims and A. B. Ware. (Democrats.)

Assemblyman Sixteenth District—A. R. Gallaway of Healdsburg, (Populist.)

Assemblymen Seventeenth District—George Hoyle of Cloverdale, (Populist.)

Supervisor First District—W. P. Barnes of Santa Rosa, (Democrat.)

Supervisor Third District—P. H. Thompson of Sonoma, (Democrat.)

Supervisor Fifth District—Frank Glenn of Guerneville, (Democrat.)

F. A. Cutler, the Democratic nominee for Congress, was endorsed by the Populists for that office.

City Trustees.

At a regular meeting of the City Trustees held last Wednesday evening the following members were present: Trustees Seipp, Hartin and Bulotti. Absent, Trustees Modini and Poppe.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Clerk Breitenbach and approved.

On motion of Trustee Hartin, seconded by Trustee Bulotti, it was ordered that bids be received at the next regular meeting for building a bridge on Fourth street East.

Trustee Hartin, Chairman of the Street Committee, was authorized to consult with Supervisor Thompson about repairing the bridge across Germany street.

A petition was presented to the Board by Chessmore and ten Bosch, signed by Henry Weyl and twenty-three others, praying that all contracts be let to the lowest bidder.

Upon motion of Trustee Bulotti the petition was laid over.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid: H. H. Granice, printing for three months, $28.70; Thos. Brown, labor, $2.

The Board then adjourned.

Gill Hall's Shortage.

The Board of Supervisors have taken steps to further the suit commenced against ex-County Recorder Hall several months ago. Nothing has been done of late in this matter as proceedings were stayed awaiting the replacing of the missing fee book. The new book is completed now. It shows a discrepancy of over $5,000 in Hall's accounts. The motion passed by the Board provides that the District Attorney shall prosecute the suit through all courts to a final ending.

Price of Grapes.

At a meeting held Sunday in Healdsburg the heaviest wine-makers in northern Sonoma county determined to fix the price of grapes this season at $15 for white varieties and the poorer quality of wine grapes, and $18 for Zinfandels, Mataros and Burgundies.

It was decided that if any higher price were paid the manufacturers would lose money, and, while the wine-market is in good shape, the conditions are not nearly so rosy as many producers seem to think they are.—Enterprise.

Auction Sale.

By reference to adv. in another column it will be seen that Chas. Stein of the Sonoma House will sell at public auction, on the premises, at 2 o'clock on Wednesday, September 23rd, all the effects belonging to the hotel, consisting of furniture, carpets, kitchen utensils, etc. The sale is made to wind up his business in this place and everything goes for spot cash.

Death of Mrs. Livernash.

Mrs. Mary Livernash died at Healdsburg Saturday. She had not been well for some time and died from heart disease while sitting in her chair. She leaves two sons and a daughter: E. J. Livernash, formerly editor of the INDEX-TRIBUNE, but now coast news editor on the San Francisco Examiner, and J. J. and Lizzie Livernash of the Healdsburg Enterprise.

REMINGTON.

Glen Ellen, Sept. 17, 1896.

The Great Register.

The Board of Supervisors, on Saturday, took up the matter of printing the Great Register of Sonoma county. Supervisor Hall made a motion that the Clerk be instructed to advertise for bids for printing 420 copies of the Great Register and twenty additional precinct registers for each precinct in the county, the bids to be opened on Monday, September 21st. The successful bidder to give a bond in the sum of $2,000.

This motion was amended by Gray, who moved that 490 copies of the Great Register be printed, and that the bond be raised to $30,000.

The amendment was lost and the vote on the regular motion to advertise for bids was carried by the following vote: Hall, Thompson and Joost, aye; Gray and Hayden, no.

A protest was then made by County Clerk Fulton against the action of the Board in advertising for bids, he claiming that it was his privilege to give out the printing of the Great Register.

The Board, however, did not take this view of the matter and the advertisements were ordered placed in the different papers.

The printing of the Great Register cost the county over $2,000 four years ago.

WERE THEY MARRIED?

A Young Couple Duly Dissected and Talked Over.

They were coming away from the theater, and they fell to discussing the young couple who sat in front of them.

"They are evidently married," said the girl in the Persian waist. "I noticed that they didn't exchange a word while the curtain was down."

"Nonsense; they are merely engaged," said the girl in the black gown. "I heard him tell her that he did not consider the leading lady even pretty."

"Perhaps they are merely brother and sister," suggested the young man of the party.

"No, they weren't," said the girl in the Persian waist; "he'd have gone out between the acts if he was only her brother, while an engaged man wouldn't want to leave her, and"—

"A newly married man would not dare to," broke in the girl in the black gown.

"She took off her hat as soon as she came in," remarked the young man. "That looks as if she was married and in the habit of consulting the feelings of some one else."

"Or that they were not really engaged yet and she wanted to show him how considerate she could be," said the girl in the black gown.

"Or that she was merely conscious of having pretty hair," said the girl in the Persian waist. "Will you wager a box of chocolates that they are not married?"

"I—I'd rather you ladies would settle it between you," said the young man hastily. "You have so much more insight in such matters, you know."

"There they come now," said the girl in the Persian waist. "Let us notice what they do, and perhaps we can decide. If they are merely friends, they will stop for cream, soda and"—

"If they are engaged, she will tell him how hungry she is, and they will stop for supper," said the young man bitterly.

"While if they are married," went on the girl in the Persian waist, "he—there, what did I tell you?"

The couple paused before a cigar shop, and he went in, while she waited at the door.

"You were right," said the girl in the black gown; "they are married."—Chicago Times-Herald.

AS TO WAITERS.

The Frenchman's Politeness and the Negro's Aptness In Table Service.

The recent discussion of the subject of tips to barbers occasioned a great many talks about tips to waiters and led to many disputes as to the relative proficiency of waiters of different nationalities. In one of these, wherein the chief disputants were arguing the respective merits of the negro, who was declared to be always beforehand of a diner's wants, and the Frenchman, whose politeness was particularly commended, the statement was made that [illegible] could even forgive bad service in a [illegible]ch waiter because of his ceaseless [illegible]ors to be nice and to convey the impression that his one desire in life was [illegible] serve commendably his patron of the moment, though the meat be tough as ensile jujube. It was contended that the Frenchman was so accurate a judge of human nature that in spite of the carelessness of the cook or the poor quality of the fare he made sure of his tip by giving some nice tidbit toward the end of the meal and intensifying his politeness concomitantly.

"I willingly leave a small gratuity," said his supporter, "for the sake of receiving attention that approaches private service. I dislike to have things slapped down before me with the indifferent slap of a sovereign American citizen. The dishes may be more substantial that are put down by the smug white native or the negro, but I would rather dine with less victuals and have [illegible] of the attentive Frenchman, the [illegible]ir' and 'if you please.'"

"[illegible] much rather," said his vis-a-vis, [illegible] food and less politeness, too, [illegible] attentions of your French [illegible] deftness, I find, permits [illegible] meant [illegible] a plate of soup in your [illegible] apparently to give him opportunity to say 'Excuse me.'"—New York Sun.

Senses of Smell and Taste In Fishes.

The senses of smell and taste appear to be well developed in the great majority of the fish species. Tobacco thrown overboard from vessels is often seized by mackerel and halibut, but is immediately rejected. Nearly all varieties of fish, and more especially the "ground swimmers," have a choice of food. Halibut and cod are attracted a great distance by certain kinds of bait. Herring, when fresh and in good condition, are splendid bait for cod, but are of no use whatever if they have become stale from long keeping. Catfish, buffalo and one or two varieties of the bass will bite bacon when they will pay no attention whatever to the luscious angleworm. The above and other facts which could easily be cited in proof have caused fishermen and scientists to come to the conclusion that the senses of smell and taste are both remarkably developed among the finny tribe.—St. Louis Republic.

All Kinds of Girls.

The girls are running away with a poor fellow nowadays. With the bicycle girl, the golf girl, the tennis girl, the seaside girl, the hunting girl, the fish-girl, the riding girl, the rowing girl, the football girl, the fencing girl, the mountain climbing girl, the graduate girl, the new girl and the old summer girl, the youth of today lives in a state of ending quandary.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Explaining His Remark.

"Do you mean to tell me, sir, that I have no proper regard for the truth?"

"I haven't said so, but I will say that if you went into politics the other side would have a busy time guessing between what you said and what you meant."—Detroit Free Press.

Families visiting Sonoma will find the Sonoma House a first-class hotel in every respect. *

THE ISLE OF TERROR.

SUCH IS USHANT, WHERE THE DRUMMOND CASTLE WENT DOWN.

Though the Place Has a Bad Name, the People Are Honest and Generous—Noted Events of Which History Treats Have Happened In Its Vicinity.

Ushant, the island upon whose outlying reefs the steamer Drummond Castle ran, sinking three minutes afterward and carrying down every soul on board, except three, lies off the northwest extremity of France and forms the corner around which vessels from the south turn into the English channel after crossing the bay of Biscay. "Ushant" is the Anglicized form of "Ouessant," the French name. Pliny calls the island "Uxantis," and the Britons know it as "Enez Heussa," which means "The Isle of Terror." It well deserves the Celtic name.

The inhabitants of Ushant are a hardy race, the men all fishermen and seamen, the women all tillers of the rocky soil. The latter on high days and holidays still often display their ancient costume, with its flat coif, which strikingly recalls the feminine headgear of southern Italy, and whence their dark hair streams in freedom below their waists. Within the last quarter of a century a breed of ponies still roamed in semi-wildness over a large part of the island, and for centuries the inhabitants themselves were looked upon as savages. Debarred, often for long weeks at a time, from any intercourse with the mainland, they certainly led very primitive lives. But at the same time they preserved the primitive virtues, and honesty and hospitality have ever been articles of faith among them.

Losing year by year, with unfailing regularity, a score or two of their own kith and kindred in the treacherous waters around their isle, their sympathies have always been with those whom shipwreck has imperiled. Several of the Breton islands have notoriously harbored communities of wreckers, but the people of Ushant have again and again distinguished themselves by their efforts to save distressed vessels or their crews.

Whenever one of the islanders is lost at sea, a touching ceremony, called "the proella" is performed. The relatives and friends of the deceased carry to his house a small wooden cross, over which the clergy repeat the prayers for the dead, as if this symbol were the corpse itself. Then the cross bearer, who, whenever practicable, is the godfather of the defunct (this again a touching instance of symbolism), incloses it in a coffer, and, followed by all the mourners, deposits it at the foot of a statue of St. Pol Aurelien, the patron of the isle. A few years ago a hundred or so of these coffers could be seen assembled around the statue.

Ushant is known to history. As early as 1388 an English expedition landed on the island and ravaged it with fire and sword. Then, in 1778, its waters witnessed the much criticised naval engagement between Keppel and d'Orvilliers, which English histories usually describe as a drawn battle, whereas the French invariably claim it as a decisive victory. Finally, 16 years later, Ushant saw the "glorious first of June," when Lord Howe certainly shattered the French ships of war commanded by Villaret-Joyeuse, but at the same time signally failed to prevent the large fleet of French merchantmen, on whose arrival France depended for means to prosecute the war, from getting safely into the port of Brest.

That Ushant is, in Breton estimation, predestined to deeds of blood and death is shown by a strange rhymed proverb, which Chateaubriand quotes in his "Memoirs From Beyond the Grave," and which may be Englished thus: "He who sees Belle Isle doth see his isle; He who seeth Groi doth see his joy, but gaze on Ushant's flood, you see your blood."

Of the wild scenery around Ushant there has probably never been any better description than that given by Chateaubriand. The island is the largest and from the mainland the most distant, of those forming the archipelago to which it gives its name. Molene, the next in size, trades largely in its own soil, which on account of certain chemical properties is sought after by Breton agriculturists. Then, in addition to scores of little islets, some of them mere aits and rocks, there is Quemenez, which is about a quarter the size of Ushant, while near to the mainland is Beniquet, or the Blessed Isle, so called on account of its proximity to the Breton shore and the refuge it offers amid the most dangerous of all the adjacent reefs, that of Les Pierres Noires.

Many a stout ship and many a frail fishing boat have been shattered among these reefs, where the waters ever seethe and roar, even on calm summer days. But winter is the time to see Ushant and its neighboring isles, all bare and rugged, rising from amid the gale lashed waves. No rock bound coast can offer a more impressive spectacle than that which the ocean then presents as it leaps in its dread, blind might around The Isle of Terror."—Westminster Gazette.

Wants It This Time.

"Hand over and be quick about it," said the "hold up" as he put a revolver to the head of the belated man.

"But you held me up last week and didn't get anything," remonstrated the victim.

"Well, hand over what I didn't get then!"—Detroit Free Press.

The 5 cent silver piece familiar to our fathers was authorized by congress April 2, 1792, and its coinage was begun the same year. Its coinage was discontinued Feb. 12, 1873.

The Truckmans' Favorite

POLLOCK,
THIS CELEBRATED CLYDESDALE Stallion will stand for the season of 1896 at General Vallejo's stables, Sonoma, on FRIDAYS, SATURDAYS and SUNDAYS of each week. Balance of time will be made known later.
POLLOCK is known as a grand-bred horse from both Sire and Dam. He also has a fine form and is a beautiful dapple brown in color, black legs and fine mane and tail. For disposition he cannot be beat. He is also very stylish and a grand mover, which was proven at the State Fair last year when he won the stallion walking match, beating the best record. He is also winner of Four Prizes at the State Fair, and is the sire of entire colt that won First Prize at that Fair in 1895.
POLLOCK is now in his best age, and surely ought to be a good horse to breed from.
TERMS—Fifteen Dollars for the season with return privilege. Strictly one price. Service fees must be paid by July 1st.
The Young Hambletonian Trotting-Bred Stallion,
SONOMA BOY,
Will stand this season for ten fine mares only at the low service fee of $35, with a return privilege. Season will close July 1st.
SONOMA BOY is a beautiful golden bay, will be four years old next July and will weigh 1,100 pounds when matured. He is a smooth-made, evenly-proportioned horse with wonderful trotting action. He will speak for himself when his record is made. He is level-headed and intelligent, and comes from blood lines that are noted for speed and gameness.
SONOMA BOY was sired by Romeo, three-year-old record, 2:30; trial, 2:22 with only a few weeks training. He by Ulster Chief, half-brother to Electioneer.
SONOMA BOY'S first dam by Old Washington, record 2:19¼; second dam by Williams' Belmont, a great breed of horses noted for speed and gameness.
I can also furnish the best of pasture for mares bred to the above horses—a level field with shade trees, pure living water, good fence (no wire), at the Carriger ranch, near El Verano, where the mares will be attended to at the low rate of $1.50 per month.
